

Just north of Pittsburgh in Marshall Township are 320 new, market-rate apartments, known as Ascent 430. Totalling more than 300,000 square feet, the development consists of several building types.

One building type includes three and four-story walk-up apartments, while the second type is a "carriage unit" building style, a single-floor apartment above a garage.

The one-story clubhouse is 4,600 square feet and features a luxurious outdoor pool. This new neighborhood was planned and designed with streetscapes and vantage points, highlighting an exciting sense of community.

THE "STATE" OF ARCHITECTURE

This month's State of Architecture features our midwestern neighbor of Illinois.

RDL Architects is privileged to have worked on more than 20 projects throughout the "Land of Lincoln." Our vast array of projects and experience, from Chicago to Springfield, and Bloomington to Peoria, includes:

- master planning
- market rate communities
- senior living villages
- assisted living facilities
- interior design
- affordable residential housing (town-homes, condominiums, apartments)
- industrial buildings
- retail and commercial
- entertainment venues and restaurants
